In celebration of the travel theme, and organised in conjunction with The London Speaker Bureau, we have secured pre-eminent polar explorer and environmental pioneer Robert Swan OBE who will give a 45-minute talk focusing on his lifelong mission to preserve Antarctica as the last great wilderness on earth.

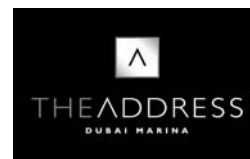

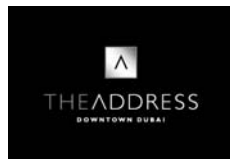

Swan's high profile expeditions saw him become the first person to walk to both the North and South Poles, earning his place in the history books. During his expeditions, Swan experienced first-hand the effects of global warming. In Antarctica, his eyes permanently changed color after prolonged exposure under the hole in the ozone layer. In the Arctic, his team survived near-death encounters in a melting ocean, prematurely caused by global warming.

As a UN Goodwill Ambassador for Youth and Special Envoy to the Director General of UNESCO, Swan has spent the last two decades working on successive missions to involve industry, business and young people in projects and raise awareness of environmental issues from Antarctica to Africa.
